FIVE OPTICAL MARKS · 12,000+ PLOTTED COORDINATES · PURE VECTOR

Mwanga is the Swahili word for light. The palette is one night, in order.

Four colours, used in sequence and never mixed randomly: the room before the doors open, the room warming, the moment itself, and what the guest keeps afterwards. Any application uses at most two of them, plus the ink.

TYPE

MWANGA

Cormorant Garamond 300, tracking 260. High-contrast serif, set wide — reads as couture, not as a printing shop.

SUPPORT

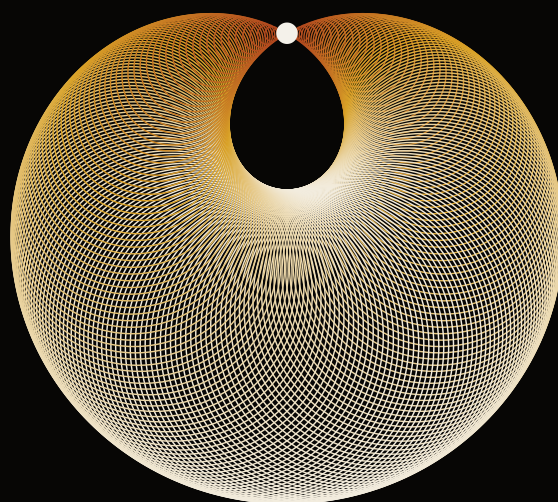

E V E N T S

Archivo 500–600 for all secondary type, IBM Plex Mono for specification and detail lines.

02 MARK 4A

Kaustiki

200 CIRCLES
CARDIOID ENVELOPE

The caustic is the bright cardioid that appears in a cup when light strikes the rim. 200 circles, every one passing through a single point. No circle is the shape; the shape is what they agree on.

03 MARK 4B

Sauti

4,000 POINTS
DAMPED HARMONOGRAPH

Two pendulums, slightly detuned, losing energy as they swing.
One continuous line of 4,000 points: a sound decaying into stillness, which is the last hour of every good night.

04 MARK 4C

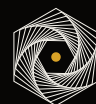

Tundu

44 HEXAGONS

4.5° / 0.968 RATIO

An iris opening. Forty-four hexagons, each turned 4.5° and shrunk by a fixed ratio, spiralling inward to a gold pupil. The lens the whole business looks through.

05 MARK 4D

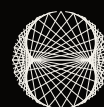

360 CHORDS

$n \rightarrow 3n \text{ MODULO } 360$

Nyota

360 straight chords, point n joined to point $3n$. Every line is dead straight; the curve is an illusion the lines build together. A guest list that becomes a shape.

06 MARK 4E

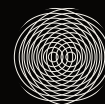

Mlio

2 × 26 WAVEFRONTS

26 UNIT SEPARATION

Two light sources, 26 units apart, each throwing 26 wavefronts. Where the rings meet, hyperbolic fringes appear that neither source contains. Two people, one interference pattern.

MWANGA
EVENTS

Every mark re-solved for small sizes, not scaled down.

At avatar and stamp size the point counts drop and the stroke weights are recalculated, so the mark stays legible at 40px and stitch-safe in one colour: fewer elements, heavier strokes, no fills.
